Dear trustaff travelers,

I wanted to take a moment to personally reach out to each of our travelers. Our top priority is the health and safety of you and the rest of our trustaff family. Whether this is your first assignment or your 72nd, your role in helping to fight this global pandemic is essential. Your skills and experience are our country's most important asset.

I promise that we will do our very best to not only be your strongest advocate while you are on assignment, but to negotiate on your behalf and be as transparent as possible as we work with each facility. Our commitment to you has never been more important.

Here at trustaff, we are fully committed to:

- Your health and safety is our top concern and priority
- Always being available to you with an open line of communication
- Ensure you can rely on and trust us to have your back at all times
- Help make your lives and jobs as successful as possible

We will do our best to continue to provide updates as soon as they come. We are learning new things on not a day-by-day basis, but hour-by-hour.

To let you know how serious I am about the importance of open lines of communication during these unprecedented times, I wanted to make sure you all had my e-mail address. I will do my best to manage all responses. I appreciate each and every one of you, as does this entire country!

Thank you and be safe,

Doug Dean
